

INAUGURAL CODE OF HONOR 5K RUN/WALK

Sunday, October 24, 2010
Charlotte, North Carolina

Support the new “Code of Honor” Scholarship Program by Sponsoring a Participant in the Code of Honor 5K Run/Walk

The International Code Council Foundation® (ICCF®) has created a new professional development scholarship program entitled “Code of Honor.” The goal of the Code of Honor scholarship program is to ensure the I-Codes® continue to reflect the consensus view of officials at all levels of government by providing travel funds for voting governmental representatives seeking to attend Final Action Code Hearings. To learn more about the Code of Honor scholarship program, visit www.icc.foundation.org.

Sponsor a Runner/Walker

You can support the Code of Honor scholarship program by sponsoring a runner/walker in the 2010 Code of Honor 5K Run/Walk, Sunday, October 24, in Charlotte, North Carolina. Your donation will help affect the future of building safety and fire prevention.

About the International Code Council Foundation (ICCF)

The International Code Council Foundation (ICCF) is a nonprofit, 501 (c)(3) subsidiary of the International Code Council®, Inc. (ICC®), an organization that develops and enforces the most widely adopted building codes in the nation. The Foundation enhances and supports the activities of the International Code Council and its members by achieving the goal of being the premier nonprofit addressing the safety of the built environment.
