

INTERNATIONAL CODE COUNCIL GOVERNMENT RELATIONS

Innovation in Code Administration Award Application

The Innovation in Code Administration Award recognizes fire and building departments for innovation in the delivery of code administration services to their communities. Sponsored by the ICC Government Relations Department, the International Association of Fire Chiefs Fire and Life Safety Section, and the National Association of State Fire Marshals, the Innovation in Code Administration Award recognizes fire and building departments for new and innovative approaches to delivering code administration services as part of their overall approach to Community Risk Reduction.

Fire and building codes establish the minimum level of risk a community is willing to accept for its built environment. In fact, code enforcement is one of the five pillars of Community Risk Reduction. The Innovation in Code Administration Award promotes and shares innovative tools and techniques that can be used to improve the effectiveness of code enforcement and further reduce a community's risk from fires and other hazards.

Call for Nominations

Nominations are open on a continuous basis. Applications may be submitted at any time. The deadline to apply for the 2020 Innovation in Code Administration Award is June 30, 2020. Email completed applications to: InnovationAward@iccsafe.org

Award Eligibility

The Innovation in Code Administration Award is an organizational award. The nominee must be a building or fire code organization that provides code administration services to one or more jurisdictions. Examples include fire and building departments, fire marshal's offices, ICC Chapters, councils of governments, or other public sector organizations that are charged with code administration. An organization can nominate itself.

The organization must demonstrate that it has implemented a unique practice or program that enhances building or fire code administration services in the community. The practice should demonstrate a positive impact on public and firefighter safety; a measurable reduction in deaths, injuries, or property damage; or a measurable increase in the quality, effectiveness, or efficiency of its code administration services.

Award Presentation

The Innovation in Code Administration Award is presented annually during the Government Relations Forum at the ICC Annual Conference. The Code Council, the IAFC Fire and Life Safety Section, and the National Association of State Fire Marshals promote the presentation of the award through their media outlets.

History of the Award

The International Code Council, in collaboration with the International Association of Fire Chiefs Fire and Life Safety Section and the National Association of State Fire Marshals, established the Innovation in Code Administration Award in 2016. The award offers national-level recognition to fire and building code departments for developing and implementing innovative practices or programs in their communities.
