▪ Children (Definition)

Children must be dependents as defined by the Internal Revenue Service. Typically, this includes birth children, stepchildren, legally adopted children, or a legal ward financially supported by the employee.

Note: The William J. Tangye scholarship is available to children of all active ICC members; however, the applicant must be enrolled in Engineering, Architecture or Construction Technology programs. Also, some of the ICC Chapters prefer candidates from their home states; however, it is not a mandatory requirement.
