Building Safety Month 2021 (May)

Building Safety Month is an annual public awareness campaign culminating in May that is celebrated by jurisdictions worldwide to help individuals, families and businesses understand what it takes to create safe and sustainable structures. For more than 40 years, the campaign has reinforced the need for the adoption of modern, regularly-updated building codes, a strong and efficient system of code enforcement, and a well-trained, professional workforce to maintain the system.

The Code Council heavily promotes Building Safety Month to its over 64,000 members and 394 chapters worldwide as well as professionals from the building construction, design and safety communities. Building Safety Month sponsors support the program because they understand the need for safe and sustainable structures where we live, work and learn.

While COVID-19 forced the Code Council to convert Building Safety Month to an all virtual campaign in 2020, we met or exceeded our social media reach and overall public awareness numbers compared to 2019. Accordingly, Building Safety Month will remain in an all-virtual format at least for 2021.

Building Safety Month is made possible through the efforts of extraordinary sponsors who receive an unparalleled opportunity to standout as leaders in building safety. This campaign is a chance for sponsors to reach the Code Council membership, others in the built environment and the public. Each year we receive additional recognition and attention for the importance of building safety by community leaders around the globe.
Building Safety Month 2021 Highlights

The 2021 campaign theme is in "Prevent, Prepare, Protect. Building Codes Save.” Frequent messaging in advance of, during and after the month of May will reinforce and leverage these special weekly themes.

Energy and Innovation
WEEK ONE // May 1–9, 2021

The building safety industry is on the cutting edge of energy efficiency, building science and innovation. From green construction and resiliency to product evaluation, certification and codification, the International Code Council family of solutions is part of this technological transformation to make our buildings safer and our industry more advanced and adaptable. For decades, the International Codes (I-Codes) have addressed energy efficiency and sustainability by incorporating the latest innovations in science and technology.a faster recovery in the aftermath of a disaster.

Training the Next Generation
WEEK TWO // May 10–16, 2021

Well-trained, motivated building safety professionals are key to creating and maintaining a successful built environment. Training is important because it helps code officials avoid mistakes and accidents and properly enforce the code. The building safety field encompasses a wide gamut of specialties and offers many excellent career opportunities that contribute to the safety of the built environment.

Water Safety
WEEK THREE // May 17–23, 2021

Clean water is the world’s most precious commodity. According to World Health Organization estimates as of June 2019, 785 million people lacked even a basic drinking-water service, including 144 million people who are dependent on surface water. Building, plumbing and green codes help guard it for future generations through proper construction, conservation and safe disposal. Code officials are vigilant protectors of our water supply. Because of their dedicated service, you can turn on the tap in your home and draw sufficient, clean water. They take nothing for granted, so you can.

Disaster Preparedness
WEEK FOUR // May 24–31, 2021

Natural disasters are increasing in severity and frequency. Advance planning for devastating events like hurricanes, floods, snowstorms, tornadoes, wildfires and earthquakes helps individuals and communities increase the health and safety of their population during a disaster, protects the local tax base, ensures continuity of essential services and supports a faster recovery in the aftermath of a disaster. Disaster mitigation through the adoption and enforcement of building codes provides you, your family and your community protection in the event of a natural disaster.
