

Kenneth Morong

With over 35 years of experience, Kenneth Morong has worked from his career as a Level 1 Technician all the way to a Senior Project Manager. In the past, he has worked for PSI, Thiele Geotechnical, and Benesch. He has been working with Terracon for the past 7 years.

He currently oversees 7 inspectors and 18 technicians on a variety of projects, from waste water treatment facility, to a 4.5 million square foot Am.z.n project nicknamed Willa, to a handful of projects for elementary, middle, and secondary schools.

Kenneth has served several terms on the Code Council Exam Development Committees (EDCs), including the reinforcing steel committee, structural steel and welding, and an ad hoc committee put together for fireproofing and firestopping. In the past, he served on the Board for International Professional Standards (BIPS) which then became the Certification committee where he also served as Co-Chair.

The BIPS he served on created the Master Special Inspector Certification, where Kenneth was instrumental in helping to write the Special Inspection Manual for the Code Council.
