

Neville Pereira currently serves as Development Director at TRB Plus Associates, Inc., a Building Safety Code Compliance services corporation operating in California and Las Vegas. A registered professional engineer in California, he brings nearly four decades of expertise in facilitating construction projects as both a design engineer and municipal official.

Neville holds ICC certifications as a building official, plans examiner, building inspector, and accessibility specialist. Throughout his distinguished career, he has served multiple jurisdictions in various leadership capacities, including the City and County of San Francisco, County of Los Angeles, City of Los Angeles, City of Glendale, City of Santa Monica, City of Pasadena, County of Monterey, and County of Santa Clara. His roles have encompassed plans examiner, inspector, Building Official, City Engineer, and Director positions across these jurisdictions.

In addition to his municipal service, Neville shared his extensive practical knowledge with the next generation of professionals as an adjunct professor at the College of the Canyons, where he taught architecture, construction, and codes practice.

Neville's commitment to his profession is demonstrated through extensive volunteer service in leadership roles within the International Code Council (ICC). He currently chairs the International Accreditation Services Committee and serves on ICC's Global Membership Governing Council. His previous ICC leadership roles include serving as President of the Los Angeles Basin Chapter of ICC, Vice Chair of ICC's Administration Code Committee, member of ICC's Technology Advisory Group, and Chair of the Higher Education Task Group for the Building Official's Membership Governing Council. At the state level, Neville has served as President of the County Building Officials Association of California (CBOAC) and as a member of the CALBO State Licensing Boards Committee. His community service extends beyond professional organizations, having served as a Commissioner on the Monterey County Commission on Disabilities.

Over the past twenty years, Neville has been a consistent participant in ICC code hearings, working tirelessly to elevate the profile of code officials through enhanced consistency, education, and increased membership participation. His dedication to the profession reflects a deep commitment to public safety and the advancement of building code standards.
