

My name is Ron Clements, I am an ICC member, past chapter president, and the building and property maintenance official for Chesterfield County, Virginia. As detailed in my resume, I have over 30 years of code enforcement experience and a dozen years of management experience. My experience managing a department with 68 employees and an over 5-million-dollar budget, coupled with my active involvement in ICC committees and the code development process, has given me the experience and skills necessary to qualify me for board service. I became involved in code development attending my first code hearing in 1995 and have stayed involved ever since. I was there every step of the way through the transition from the legacy codes to the ICC and have served on a dozen ICC committees over the last two decades. So, after much encouragement from my ICC friends and colleagues, I have decided to run for the ICC Board of Directors at the 2023 Annual Business Meeting. I would be honored and grateful if you would consider supporting my candidacy.

In Virginia, I have been active with the Virginia Building and Code Officials association and the Virginia Plumbing and Mechanical inspectors association. I chaired the VBCOA building code committee, which led to my involvement in the ICC code development process. After becoming a VBCOA board member I went on to become the VBCOA president in 2005/2006 and have served as Legislative Committee chair and a lobbyist for both VBCOA and VPMIA since 2008.

I am a candidate for one of the three at large seats available in St. Louis. I look forward to supporting the recommendations of the Nominating Committee and do not plan to run from the floor if not selected by the Nominating Committee.

I believe in the philosophy that a rising tide lifts all ships and look forward to serving all of the ICC members, working to set policy and strategic direction that ensures great products and services to support the best codes and standards produced in the world. I have reviewed a lot of information including the IRS 990, spoken to a lot of members, and what I have learned has raised my confidence in the strength of the ICC family of solutions, and the critical role the Board plays in setting the strategic direction of the Council. I look forward to joining the Board of Directors and working hard to continue improving and leading such a great group of companies and serving such an engaged and dedicated group of member professionals. What I am looking forward to most, is getting out to meet and work with as many members, chapters, and regions as I can.

Looking forward to the opportunity....

Best,
Ron
