

Ryan Meres

---

Ryan Meres has 13 years of experience in energy and water efficiency, energy policy and building energy codes. He has published more than two dozen case studies, reports and resources.

As the Program Director for RESNET, Meres currently leads several programs, including the implementation of RESNET's HERSH2O whole-house water efficiency standard. He also leads initiatives to get energy and water efficiency valued in the real estate transaction process.

Meres holds a Bachelor's Degree in Architecture from the Savannah College of Art and Design and lives in upstate New York with his wife and their three children.